

DRILLERS STRIKE LEAD-ZINC FLOOR

Artesian Water Flows at Depth of 1,247 Feet
in 3-22-14

MAY BE RICH FIELD

Presence of Ore Indicates a Second Miami - Joplin
Field, Says Geologist

In there a second Miami zinc and lead field in this part of Oklahoma? Discovery made by drillers north and a little east of Collinsville last week would indicate that there are unknown and unexplored sources of revenue other than oil lying far below the surface, even if there are not caverns of metal there, the discovery is at least a freak of nature unique in Oklahoma drilling.

In the well being drilled by C. H. Culpitt and others in 2-22-14 at a bend of the Cane river last week workers struck crystalline lead and zinc at 1,247 feet. Before the tools could be drawn from the hole a heavy wall of artesian water flowed over the top of the casing, coming with such force that fragments from the bottom of the hole were dislodged and thrown out over the top. The hole drilled itself in a well flowing 1,000 barrels of water daily. The fragments scattered all over the rig floor show large content of both crystalline lead (galena) and zinc (sphalerite) ore.

Robert H. Wood, one of the most conservative of the geologists in the field, examined the well and yesterday made this statement regarding it:

"The presence of such large crystals indicates the existence of conditions similar to those existing in the Joplin-Miami district with its underground caverns and water courses, mostly of a probable past geological age."

This is the first time that a strike of this particular nature has ever been made this side of the Miami field.

HELP BUILD CAPITOL

Pioneer Recalls Events of Half
Century When Capitol of Cherokee Nation Was Built.

Special to The World.
TALLAHASSEE, Jan. 7.—"Uncle Bill" Woodall, while here on one of his few-and-far-between visits from his home down near Fourteen-Mile creek, the other day, recalled that something more than 50 years ago he assisted in building the Cherokee capitol, now used as the county courthouse in and for Cherokee county.

The capitol building was built of brick burned out of the Chapel spring, a mile south of town, and the floors, as Woodall recalled, were plank made from black locust trees, one of the most durable flooring materials ever made. There were many big locust trees in this section at the time and many were cut down and hauled to a sawmill over in the hills where they were sawed into the required lengths as lumber.

At the time the Cherokee capitol was being built no one had any idea that the day would come when it would become the county courthouse in a state of the American union. Great changes have transpired since "Uncle Bill" and other citizens worked about the now historical building.

ARE ON ANXIOUS SEAT

Postmaster Wants to Turn Loose His Job and Applicants are Studying to Meet His Rules.

Special to The World.
IDABEL, Jan. 7.—"Thimble, thimble, who holds the thimble?" is the game being played by the applicants for the Idabel postoffice just now. There are three of the most prominent republicans of the town applying for the appointment and there is a deadlock in the appointment. Each of the applicants claim to have the endorsement of the party leaders, and each claims that his appointment will be announced in a few days.

Since the declaration of Postmaster General W. H. Hall that all appointees hereafter, before taking charge of their office, must take a course in handling the public, has caused renewed activity among the applicants of this town. It is claimed by close friends of each that they are now sitting up nights reading the public. Each it is claimed, has employed private tutors seeing enlightenment upon the vital points to be acquired. In fact, to a stranger, the activities of those applying for the place seem to have taken on a diplomatic turn and they are now served practicing on their friends and declaiming the perfection of the postal machinery.

While this is going on among the applicants, the present incumbent, Charles J. Townsend is sitting still and sawing wood. Mr. Townsend tendered his resignation some time in August, believing the days of his usefulness had arrived, but at that time accepted a new position and asked for relief from the postoffice. The appointment of his successor has been looked for with a great deal of interest ever since, as those applying for the place represent some of the most progressive and leading business men of the town. The question is still "who will it be?"

REMODEL BURBANK DEPOT

Santa Fe Enlarges Facilities to Meet
Growing Business.

Special to The World.
PONCA CITY, Jan. 7.—The general management of the Santa Fe has authorized an increase of facilities at Burbank on the eastern Oklahoma branch, in order to take care of business that has grown because of the western Osage oil district. The present passenger-freight depot is to be remodelled to be used solely as a passenger station and a 70-foot long freight station is to be added. The house track is being extended by 350 feet and an additional 2,000-foot team track is being built, chiefly for unloading oil field equipment.

Ford's Offer Is Still Most Comprehensive

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—Henry Ford's offer to the Great Muscle Shoals nitrate plant, complete the project and then operate it, still remains the most comprehensive offer for the plant, which has not yet received its final approval. It was indicated by Secretary of War Weeks today, following a lengthy conference with Charles C. Tinker, president of the Northern American Construction company of San Francisco, who submitted a proposal.

TO PROTECT THE QUAIL

Birds Are of Great Value in the Checking of Boll Weevil and Other Farm Pests.

Special to The World.
KATY, Tex., Jan. 7.—The various local organizations of the Farmers' union throughout this section are urging that quail be rigidly protected. They have published resolutions in many of the local papers, urging hunters to spare the quail and asking the farmers to prohibit their being shot upon their premises.

The quail is the one great enemy of the boll weevil and the boll weevil, farmers here say. The fact that they consume a vast number of hibernating bugs and wasps during the winter months makes them a valuable bird and farmers here seem to be determined that they shall not be exterminated. The quail ground of the quail is rapidly being cut down around here. At farms where it is used to hunt at will he is now greeted by a large sign which warns him to "Keep Off."

A few years ago a disease similar to cholera broke out among quail in this section at breeding time and very few quails lived through it. However, farmers say, they will stock again now and they believe that if all will co-operate in protecting them they will become numerous in a short time.

Many out-of-county exhibitors were represented, including entries from Atoka and several from Holdenville.

COAL OPERATORS WIN SUIT

Want to Pay Indians for Land on Back Number Assessment.

Special to The World.
MALESTER, Jan. 7.—A decision which affects many of the coal companies of the Choctaw and Chickasaw nations is that which was received today by George M. Porter of this city who represents the McAlester-Edwards Coal company in a test case that is being made before the courts of Washington, D. C. The case by which the coal operators are attempting to settle for lands bought from the Indians on an appraisal made in 1913 and not on that made in 1918 as held by the Indian department, was reversed and remanded to the lower court in favor of the coal operators.

LIONS TO BOOST HIGHWAYS

Decide to Take Active Part in Campaign for Road Improvement.

Special to The World.
GILTON, Jan. 7.—At the regular semi-monthly luncheon of the Lions club Friday night, it was decided to take an active part in the good roads campaign to be put on here early in the spring. There will be a united effort on the part of the Lions club to have the Albert Pike highway from the beginning of the road at the Payne county line four miles north of this city to the intersection of the Tulsa-Creek county line, chatted all the way and made one of the principal highways of the county.

NEW BARK EXTRACT

GIVES GREAT VIGOR

Vitalizer Found in Africa Produces
Results in a Few Days—Better Than Gland Treatments.

"The most amazing vitalizer known today has been discovered in the bark of an African tree. An extract made from this bark, and compounded in tablet form with other ingredients of proved merit is declared to be far superior to even the famous 'gland' and 'monkey gland' treatments. In most cases it produces gratifying results in just a few days, and as the treatment is continued the vitality increases rapidly, and circulation improves and the slow of health is felt in every part."

If you have lost your youth, vigor and "pep" you need not worry. No matter what else you have tried without benefit, science declares that you will get from this new extract the results you desire. In fact, the laboratories making the tablets for the American trade guarantee to refund the purchase price to any body who reports "no benefit" after only one week's trial.

On this basis, any reader of this paper may test the new discovery without risk. Send no money, but just your name and address to the R-R-R Laboratories, Dept. 27, 2700 10th St., Kansas City, Mo., and you will receive by mail a full treatment of the R-R-R Tablets, as the new vitalizer is called. On delivery, pay the price of $3 and postage. Try the vitalizer a week and then if dissatisfied, return the tablets and get your money back in full. You need not hesitate about accepting this test offer as it is fully guaranteed.

MRS. ANDERSON DIED SATURDAY

Wife of Tulsa Oil Man
Stricken Suddenly
Friday Night

Tulsa lost by death one of the foremost women citizens when Mrs. Horace Phillip Anderson, wife of the prominent oil operator and investment broker, died early Saturday morning at the home, 504 South Denver.

Mrs. Anderson was stricken about 5 o'clock Friday evening at 5 W. C. A. just after she had dismissed a little class for young people. She was taken home immediately, but never regained consciousness. Mrs. Anderson was seemingly in fairly good health, had worked in the Billy Sunday campaign and was enthusiastic in her interest in the Bible study course formed from prayer meeting groups.

Mrs. Anderson was endowed with that indefinable something known as leadership and was on fire with the wish to be of service to her day and generation, whether family, church, civic institution or philanthropy. She was devoted to her organization of the Tulsa county Humane society, commencement of play-ground work in the schools and parks, establishment of domestic science and of the art department in the public schools, planting of trees on the school grounds and including the colored section of the city, purchase of parks, work for children and organization of the City Federation of Women's clubs. She was active in the First Presbyterian church and was a member of the building committee responsible for erection of the present church home.

Funeral arrangements will be made until after the arrival from Seattle, Wash., of one daughter, Mrs. Frederick Hall White. The other daughter, Emma Anderson, has been at home during the winter, after a visit early in the fall at Wellsville where she graduated last June.

The Andersons came here in the spring of 1906. Mrs. Emma Kirby Anderson was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Kirby and was born May 11, 1862, at Charleston, Mo. She was educated at Elizabeth All Seminary and was married January 9, 1884, in her home town. Mr. and Mrs. Anderson were planning to celebrate their thirty-eighth wedding anniversary informally Sunday.

A friend of long standing said yesterday of Mrs. Anderson: "Lives are like gardens and the long life has had the opportunity to make a lovely garden if the person has been diligent in the making. Mrs. Anderson grew her garden for service, that she might give the fullness of the growth to others. Hers was a great and a brave spirit with a clear perspective and bright vision. She was modest about her work and cared only for results."

Wife Laughed at Him, Stabbed Her to Death

CHICAGO, Jan. 7.—Because his wife laughed at him when he chided her for drinking, Michael Condon told the police today he stabbed her to death. The couple's four children witnessed the tragedy. Condon was arrested and declared that he found his wife intoxicated. He took her home and upbraided her. "My wife only laughed and sneered," he said. "I went crazy, grabbed a knife from the kitchen table and stabbed her with it."

When a deposit of silver ore discovered in Bengal is developed it is expected to yield 2,000 ounces of metal a month, with prospects of a steady increase.

PROUD OF CAMP HUT

Legion Post Has Proven Itself a Busy Friend of the Interests of the Ex-Servicemen.

Special to The World.
IDABEL, Jan. 7.—The George Oakley chapter, American Legion, held its annual election of officers for the next year with the following results: It. M. DeWitt, post commander; Capt. F. B. West, vice commander; James E. Hall, camp adjutant.

The retiring officers have made a wonderful record in their work for the boys during the past year and it is the intention of those coming into office to keep up the good record. One of the big things accomplished this last year is the construction of the new camp hut, which is now about completed. It is claimed that when it is completed that there will be but three others in the south that will be its equal. The building will represent an expenditure of $10,000 when completed, which is claimed will be February 15. It is to be equipped with all modern conveniences and will have an auditorium with a seating capacity of 300. The finances were raised by public donation which shows how the good people of the town appreciate the work of the boys.

Another one of the legion's great works for the last year was keeping open the Red Cross chapter for the benefit of all ex-soldiers. This work is carried on for all ex-soldiers and is proving to be a great benefit in assisting them in getting their claims properly filed for back pay and other relief that is found to be due them. Aside from that, the camp physician is rendering a service to the boys which has proven another great assistance. He is claimed, has examined more than two hundred and made his recommendation for their relief and in doing this is rendering a service that is proving to be one of the greatest assistance.

FINANCIAL REPORTS PLEASE

Banks and Loan People Are Looking Toward New Year Prosperity.

Special to The World.
PONCA CITY, Jan. 7.—Ponca City bank deposits are sticking close to the high wave mark of between one and two years ago when they reached $5,200,000. The reports of the six financial institutions of this city, in response to a call for condition, showed total deposits now of $4,300,000, or within $900,000 of the high mark. These deposits are divided as follows: In the five banks, $3,450,000 in the building and loan, $850,000.

The building & loan association report shows that $700,000 are loaned to 398 persons, on hour contracts, and that on December 31 with two exceptions there is not a delinquent payment in either interest or principal. The report shows the association has earned during its three years of existence $110,000, of which $60,000 were earned during 1921 and that interest dividends were distributed at the rate of $5.00 a month. The association anticipates that the 1922 earnings will be $50,000, or an average of $7.000 per month.

PLAN TO BUILD OWN ROAD

Ponca City Capitalists Back Scheme
For Railway Outlets.

Special to The World.
PONCA CITY, Jan. 7.—With one million dollars in freight receipts in sight, capitalists of this city are organizing to build their own railroad to a western connection, thus guaranteeing an east and west line for this city. The final movement for such an organization was launched at a meeting of such men here today when the decision was reached to build their own road. The matter has been up with other railroad companies at various times but without any action being taken thus far.

What local capitalists want is another outlet to the gulf, principally an investigation shows that the freight rates annually, because of the increased oil business at this point, will amount to millions of dollars on oil, grain and livestock. It was understood today that a pledge of one million dollars in freight receipts within a certain length of time has been given the men who are associating to build this road. It is probable that the connection will be made with either the Rock Island or the Frisco.

COST OF WATER STAGGERS

Want Grand River Source, But Make Facts at Expense.

Special to The World.
VINNYA, Jan. 7.—At its meeting Tuesday night the city council discussed informally with Mr. McDonald, of the engineering firm of Burns and McDonald of Kansas City, the problem of piping water to this city from Grand river. The engineer estimates that the construction of a 12-inch pipe line to Grand river, a distance of 12 miles, would cost $230,000, and a 14-inch main would cost $350,000.

Such expenditure, the city fathers contend, would not be feasible unless the Frisco railway, the Sinclair refinery and Public Service company would all buy their water of the city. This co-operation has not been pledged in other water projects planned. At an election nearly a year ago $450,000 bonds were voted to build a water plant by impounding the water on Little Cabin creek, two miles northeast of the city, and various plans have been made in connection with this project, but actual construction has not yet passed the blue print stage.

Much Work for Truant Officer.
Special to The World.
TULSA, Jan. 7.—Charles D. Hitchcock of this place has been appointed truant officer in and for Cherokee county. For some time there has been much complaint that large numbers of children in various school districts do not attend school and strenuous efforts will now be made to have better attendance.

STORM IN MINING COUNTRY

Northeastern Oklahoma Experiences
Force of the Wind.

DOUTHAT, Jan. 7.—This district was swept by a tornado early Wednesday morning which destroyed considerable property, but resulted in no deaths, so far as can be ascertained. At Douthat but little damage was done, but at Picher many houses were blown down. On some of the mining leases, trams, derricks and rail buildings were more or less damaged, this being especially true of the Quapaw, Bluebird, Blue Goose, Acme, Warner, Premier, R. Joe, Black Hawk and Woodbury. The damage to mining property alone is roughly estimated at $15,000. In the rural districts farm houses in some localities were badly wrecked or damaged, and some livestock killed.

In one instance a country school house was moved some distance and could not be occupied next day. Many telephone poles were blown down, and most of the lines were paralyzed until repairs could be made. At Miami the force of the wind was sufficient to break plate glass out of the fronts of a few business buildings. It appears that 11 or 12 families have been rendered homeless, and measures are being taken for their relief.

Announcing Tulsa's Newest Institution—The

KAHN MERCANTILE CO.

WHOLESALE

(Incorporated)

RETAIL

TULSA—WEST TULSA—SAND SPRINGS

General Office, Tulsa, Oklahoma

THIS ANNOUNCEMENT results from the consolidation of the Kahn Department Store with the Kahn General Merchandise Store of West Tulsa and Max Kahn store of Sand Springs.

The officers of the new corporation are Mr. Julius Kahn, President; Mr. Max Kahn, Vice President and Mr. J. Weiss, Secretary-Treasurer.

With pardonable pride we believe this announcement is a climax to our long and successful career of general merchandising in Tulsa and vicinity. Our primary object of making this consolidation was to broaden our field of usefulness that we may better serve the thousands of patrons to whom we unqualifiedly owe our success.

In entering the wholesale field it is with a full knowledge of the advantages we will have in selling merchandise cheaper than ever before. We have felt for a long time Tulsa's need of a wholesale establishment of this kind. The manifold benefits derived from same are not confined to customers of our retail stores, but give advantages to the customers of every store in this locality who deal with our firm. The consolidation gives us command of large amounts of cash which we will use in spot buying. The firms who buy their merchandise from us will get just as low price concessions as they would from jobbers in the east and will save long distance shipping charges as well as getting immediate delivery.

The policy of the Kahn Mercantile Company's retail establishments will be the same as it was under the management of the Kahn Department stores. It will be our aim to sell quality merchandise at the lowest possible prices. As heretofore we will sell for cash only. The savings we thus offer in lower prices will much more than offset any of the so-called advantages of a credit system.

The only noticeable change in the personnel will be the retirement of Mr. Julius Kahn from active management of the Tulsa Retail store; these duties being assumed by his brother, Mr. Max Kahn, formerly of the Sand Springs store. Mr. Julius Kahn will devote his entire time to the management and buying for the wholesale establishment, which assures the influence of quantity buying and his personal experience being felt throughout our retail stores here.

Mr. Wiley, assisted by Mr. Willard will succeed Mr. Max Kahn as manager of the Sand Springs store and Mr. and Mrs. George A. Seeley will be in charge of the West Tulsa store. These are all familiar faces to the patrons of these stores and the slight change will occasion no departure from our usual merchandising methods. In the Tulsa store, Mrs. Holmes will have charge of the dry goods department and Miss Lena Pogana will be in charge of the women ready-to-wear department.

For the next thirty days Mr. Julius Kahn will devote the most of his time and attention to our Tulsa store. He invites all his friends and customers to come in and see him and get acquainted with the new management. He wants to particularly impress upon you that the same personal attention, the same policy of selling quality merchandise at lowest prices, the same friendliness with which you've been familiar so long will prevail in the Kahn Mercantile Company's store the same as it did in Kahn's Department store. It will be hard even for our oldest customers to note a difference, except in the name, and perhaps in still lower prices.

Mr. Weiss, our secretary-treasurer, comes from Ardmore, Okla., where he has had many years of success in his business. Mr. Weiss is very efficient and capable and the Kahn Mercantile Company feels fortunate having him associated with the new firm.
